Gabi, who was born without hips or legs, was inspired to follow in her parents' footsteps and have a career as a Santa Claus — and her parents were going to make sure she reached her goal of becoming a 'real' Santa. Gabi was born without hips or legs, and her parents decided to follow her passion for Santa Claus and make sure she could fulfil her dream. Her parents even gave her the title of 'fairy princess', so they could dress her as the iconic figure. Gabi's parents took her to a shop that sells Santa-themed clothes, where the child told the shop assistant: 'I want to look like Santa.' After she had chosen her suit of red and white, she also asked for red stockings and a Santa hat. Dad David Stupar, 32, and mum Robin Nizic, 30, explained that she was a little worried about how she would be treated as a little girl. 'She was worried that she'd get teased at school, but we reassured her that nothing bad would happen,' they told New Idea. Gabi's parents became a YouTube sensation after they posted a video of her in her Santa suit. Mr Stupar said: 'She's a little kid in a big suit, but she was so excited and happy when she got it.' From the day that Gabi was born, her parents were determined to make sure she knew how 82157476af
